

George Fentham Endowed School Hampton in Arden

Promoting British Values at George Fentham Endowed School

The Department for Education states that there is a need “to create and enforce a clear and rigorous expectation on all schools to promote the fundamental British values of democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.”

The government sets out its definition of British values in the 2011 Prevent Strategy and these values were reiterated by the Prime Minister in 2014. At George Fentham Endowed School these values are reinforced regularly and in the following ways:

- Democracy

Democracy is embedded in the school. Pupils are always listened to by adults and are taught to listen carefully and with concern to each other, respecting the right of every individual to have their opinions and voices heard. Pupils also have the opportunity to air their opinions and ideas through our School Council and pupil voice opportunities. The elections of the School Council members are based solely on pupil votes, reflecting our British electoral system and demonstrating democracy in action.

- The Rule of Law

The importance of laws whether they are those that govern the class, the school or the country, are consistently reinforced. School Council devised 3 key school rules which are embedded in the daily life of the school. In addition, each class also discusses and sets its own Class Charter, rules that are clearly understood by all and seen to be necessary to ensure that every class member is able to learn in a safe and ordered environment. Our pupils are taught the value and reasons behind laws, that they govern and protect us, the responsibilities that this involves and the consequences when laws are broken.

- Individual Liberty

Within school, pupils are actively encouraged to make choices, knowing that they are in a safe and supportive environment. As a school we educate and provide boundaries for our pupils to make choices safely, through the provision of a safe environment and an empowering education. Our pupils are encouraged to know, understand and exercise their rights and personal freedoms and are advised how to exercise these safely; examples of this can be clearly seen in our E-safety and PSHE lessons. Whether it is through choice of challenge; of how they record; of participation in our numerous extra- curricular activities; our pupils are given the freedom to make choices.

George Fentham Endowed School

Hampton in Arden

- Mutual Respect

Respect is seen as an important value in our school. Pupils know and understand that it is expected and imperative that respect is shown to everyone, whatever differences we may have and to everything, however big or small. The value of respect at George Fentham Endowed School underpins much of our work every day both in and out of the classroom. Respect for the older generation is fostered through links with Hampton Lunch Club.

- Tolerance of Those With Different Faiths, Cultures and Beliefs

The key value of respect ensures tolerance of those who have different faiths, cultures and beliefs. George Fentham Endowed School enhances pupils' understanding of different faiths, cultures and beliefs through RE, collective worship, visits and visitors and the wider curriculum. Our annual RE week focuses on a different faith each year and includes visits to places of worship and visitors from other faiths. In addition, each year group learns about different faiths as part of the Solihull Syllabus for RE.

Alison Edmeades

February 2015

