

Cultural

This is about understanding your own (self identity) as well as other cultures. It is about recognising the similarities and differences between cultures, about recognising stereotypes and generalisations of groups of people and overcoming these. It is about being open to new ideas and having a willingness to change your ideas based on your experiences. It is about the enjoyment of exploring, understanding and joining in with cultural diversity (Food, clothing, music, language, currency etc)